Roy is a Director of the BLP office in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. His specialty practice areas include Business Law, Aviation & Maritime, Competition & Antitrust, and Immigration & Nationality.

During his 10 years of experience, he has advised international and national entities in processes of economic concentrations before the Commission for the Defense and Promotion of Competition (CDPC). He has participated in the incorporation of companies, granting of powers, appointments of boards of directors, changes in administration, capital increases, liquidations, and civil litigation in contentious and voluntary jurisdiction matters.

Roy also advises airlines on regulatory matters before the Honduran Agency of Civil Aeronautics.

He joined the BLP team as an Associate in 2015, after having been a legal advisor to Lexincorp. He worked for the Honduran Council of Private Enterprise (COHEP) for three years, where he was appointed as an alternate director of that Council before the board of directors of the National Port Company (ENP). He also served as the compliance executive of the HSBC bank and worked as an associate at the Sandoval & Medina and Herrera y Asociados firms.
